

Town Crier Announces Newly Elected Officers for Halifax Historical Society & Museum

Following the annual membership meeting of the Halifax Historical Society & Museum, held on Saturday, January 11, Town Crier Samuel Wolf cried out the names of the newly elected officers and board reappointments in a public announcement made from the front steps of the museum.

Executive Committee officers who will lead the Halifax Historical Society & Museum for 2015 are Matthew Romanik of Daytona Beach-President; Warren Trager of Daytona Beach-First Vice President; Dr. Michael Link of Ormond Beach-Second Vice President; David Glasser of Ormond Beach-Third Vice President; Beth Mindlin of South Daytona- Recording Secretary; Elizabeth Beecher of Daytona Beach-Corresponding Secretary; and Catherine Wharton of Ormond Beach-Treasurer.

Other officers re-elected to the board for the next three years are Alma McMillan of Daytona Beach, Patrick Henry of Daytona Beach, Preston Root of Flagler, and Josh Wagner of Port Orange.

Newly elected officers of the Halifax Historical Society & Museum are joined by other members of the board on the front steps of the museum as Town Crier Samuel Wolf announces the results of the January 10 election to the public. Pictured are, from left, Treasurer Catherine Wharton, Board Trustee Dr. Leonard Lempel, Board Member and City of Daytona Beach Commissioner Ruth Trager, First Vice President Warren Trager. Second row, Board Member Alma McMillan, Recording Secretary Beth Mindlin, Corresponding Secretary Elizabeth Beecher. Back row, Second Vice President Dr. Michael Link, President Matthew Romanik, Board Trustee E. Holmes Davis.

Also, at the Society's December meeting the board voted to affiliate with an official Town Crier, Samuel Wolf, who is portrayed by Rip Pellaton, actor/director, who is an award winning, certified town crier. He will assist the Museum with promoting its many events and activities that are open to the public.
