In her school Ashley teaches success strategies that include more than the words we speak. Did you know that words are only 7% of communication, according to Albert Mehrabian, professor of Psychology at UCLA. What makes up the other 93%?

Workshops, as well as business and personal coaching open the path to success through learning how these techniques effectively benefit your communication style, building rapport with others, both at work and at home, and how implementing these techniques change the way you communicate with yourself and interact with others.

If results are what you seek, then check out www.moorestrategiesforsuccess.com and review the calendar of events for the next few months. Seminars and workshops are available. Have a specific interest? Let's talk. Call: 386-788-5653

Looking forward to the OPEN HOUSE & RIBBON CUTTING, and you sharing the special event with me.

Hugs, Ashley
